Principal's Message

Are your calendars full? Most of ours are. We constantly look ahead to coming events, appointments, deadlines, children's activities, etc. Here is a comforting future event: You are going to rest, completely, some day. Jesus is coming. The pressure will be gone; problems will evaporate. In addition, your close relationships will be even stronger, with other Christians, and especially with your Lord. In the meantime, keep on serving.

Mrs. Szmanda: Grades 1-2

- This week's Christ Light lessons are Joseph is Sold by His Brothers and Joseph in Potiphar's House and Prison. Because of sin, sorrows enter a Christian's life, but God promises to be with us and help us through it. We are also watching selected parts of the musical Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat during lunch.
- We are taking a "trip" (through books, videos, and projects) to Washington, DC and other places to learn about some national symbols and important government buildings. We will also learn about Veterans Day. We have been preparing for our Veteran visitors by making wall and table decorations.
- Help wanted: over the break I laminated quite a few things. If anyone is interested in helping by cutting them out, I would really appreciate it!

- The science lessons share the theory of how the continental plates seem to be moving, causing rift valleys, a spreading seafloor, volcanoes, and earthquakes.
- Our physical education classes are filled with indoor soccer. The students get a good workout.
- In our literature class the students are reading Animal Farm, George Orwell's classic. It depicts the history of the Russian revolution which ultimately led that country into communism.
